Cumberland Coal,
I have now in store a cargo of Cumberland Coal, which I am selling at REASONABLE PRICES.
For light or heavy Blacksmiths' work, we will warrant the coal superior to any in this market. It will last twenty per cent more work than the best coal from the Cumberland Coal usually sold here. Nearly all the Navy Yards in the United States use this coal and the U. S. Armory at Springfield use it exclusively. Send in your orders.

Post Office Regulations.

BANGOR POST OFFICE.

On and after July 1, 1863, agreeable to the provisions of the new postal law, and by order of the Post Master General, the following regulations will be enforced in the Post Office. A careful perusal of the same by the public will prevent much misunderstanding, and obviate much inconvenience, to and after the above date.

All box rents must be paid in advance.

All postages on regular newspapers must be paid at least one quarter in advance, and, when pay will is made for a newspaper commencing at any time during the quarter, such payment must be made to the end of the quarter next ensuing. Quarters commence in January, April, July and October.

All postage on domestic letters must be paid in advance.

All postages due on letters from time to time, must be paid before delivery. Foreign postages are as heretofore.

The postage on all letters, not weighing over one half ounce, will be three cents to any part of the United States, and for each additional half ounce or fraction thereof, an additional rate of three cents must be paid, and seem in the same ratio. Letter postage to California will now be three cents. If any letters, on which it is required that the postage shall be prepaid at the mailing office, shall reach their destination without such prepayment, double the prepaid rate shall be collected on delivery.

This rule applies also to all mailable matter.

If the postage is partly prepaid, the unpaid postage must be paid at double rates.

All drop letters must be prepaid, and the postage on same will be two cents. If the letter exceed in weight one half ounce, four cents must be paid, and so on in the same ratio.

All transient newspapers sent through the office must be so unfolded as to be easily removed from the wrappers for examination. If not so folded, double postage will be charged and collected at the office of delivery.

The charge for registering a letter will be 20 cents, in addition to the necessary postage thereon.

The rates of postage on transient and miscellaneous matter, except unsealed circulars and books, will be

One package to one address, not over 4 ounces, 2 cents.

One package to one address, over 4 ounces and not over 8, 4 cents—and so on in the same ratio.

BOOKS.

Books not exceeding 4 ounces, to one address, 1 cent; over 4 ounces and not over 8, 2 cents—and so on in the same ratio.

UNSEALED CIRCULARS.

Unsealed circulars, not over three in number, to one address, 2 cents.

Unsealed circulars over 3 and not exceeding six, 4 cents—and so on in the same ratio.

Quarterly rates on newspapers and periodicals issued once a week or more frequently, and sent to actual subscribers,

Not over 4 ounces in weight	Weekly	Semi	Tri	Bi-Monthly	Monthly	Daily
	5	10	5	30	15	35
Exceeding 4 & not over 8	10	20	8	60	30	70

and so on in the same ratio.

Quarterly rates on newspapers and periodicals issued less frequently than once a week, and sent to actual subscribers.

Not over 4 ounces in weight,	Semi Mo'ly	Monthly	Quarly
Exceeding 4 and not over 8,	12	6	2

Paris, 4th. The Moniteur contradicts Rothschild's statement that Napoleon attempted to influence the British Government to recognize the South. He can't take the initiative after the rejection of the former proposal. If England thinks recognition will stop the war the Emperor will join her willingly in recognition of the South.

HEADQUARTERS Army of Potomac, July 14th.

The first news of the retreat of Lee and his army into Virginia, was received at Hagerstown at 4 o'clock this Tuesday forenoon, from a citizen who lived within their lines.

Gen Kilpatrick, commanding the cavalry division at that point, soon had his men on the road, and reached Williamsport at 7 o'clock, where he found 500 rebel soldiers who had designed

The news reached Gen Meade's headquarters at 8 o'clock when Gen Buford's division of cavalry was ordered to Falling Waters, where they engaged and captured a brigade of rebels under Gen Pettigrew who was killed

Gen Meade held a council of war on Saturday and Sunday evenings consisting of his corps commanders, when the question of attack was fully discussed the generals assembled were in favor of an immediate attack, except Generals Sedgwick, Slocum, Sykes and French. Gen Meade himself was in favor of active operations, but finding his corps commanders equally divided he hesitated to give the order, and the rebel army was allowed to make its escape

An order was issued last night for a movement along the whole line at 7 o'clock this morning

Yesterday afternoon about 2000 Pennsylvania militia who arrived in the vicinity of Hagerstown were taken to the front and put into action They were ordered to charge the enemy which was done promptly, but not without some loss

HALIFAX, 15th.

The brig Sarah, from Cardenas reports on the 9th inst, lat 30, saw whaling schr Hecla and a brig from Cherryfield, loaded with molasses, on fire and abandoned. Shortly after saw a bark rigged steamer supposed to be the Alabama.

NEW YORK, 15th—6, P. M

There was no stock board this afternoon The appearances now indicate that the mob who have since Monday made a pandemonium of this city have become convinced that sufficient military are in town and shortly to arrive to stop their horrible work.

There have been only one or two slight demonstations down town, the thieves confining themselves to sparsely settled districts in the upper part of the city.

The police have bravely and fearlessly done their duty, heartily seconded by the military

The announcement that the 7th regiment has appeared near the city, has spread consternation among the rioters and their friends, which was visibly increased by the further announcement that the 71st, 37th, 23d, and 8th, and other regiments are also within a few hours' ride

Some houses, report says, six or eight, have been burned in Yorkville and Harlem, thieves plundering every one of them with the cry—"Down with the draft."

A small block was destroyed on the 32d street, occupied by negroes, the sworn foes of revenge for the killing of the Zouave.

This afternoon the mob again collected in 32d street, near where a negro was hanging Fallin; to disperse, a howitzer was trained on them The first discharge wiped out six. Two more discharges increased the number to 22, when all that were left alive dispersed.

Two negroes were killed this afternoon, one at Pier No. 4, and the other on Washington street

Harper Brothers and J. A. Gray, printers, and others, have been warned that their establishments will be destroyed if the workmen are kept on duty.

Colored people are fleeing from the city in all directions.

Gold has fallen to 127. The markets are all dull and nominal, no business being done of importance.

The City Council have unanimously passed an ordinance appropriating $2,500,000 to exempt poor conscripts.

The rioters have recommenced in 2d Avenue and are burning the buildings between 28th and 29th streets.

It is reported that several colored people have been killed.

There is a serious riot also in Third Avenue, near 35th, which threatens to be extensive.—The police and military are hotly engaged, the latter firing on the mob and occasionally using the bayonet. They have been reinforced by a field piece sent them.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the mob entered an alley in the rear of 28th street and 2d Avenue, in which 15 or 20 negro families resided, burst open the houses and found some unfortunates who were badly handled. One named Van Clep was beaten to a dying state with a crow bar.

A lane from 27th street was also entered and Alfred Dudley killed by the fiends. Cruelties of the worst kind are also practised upon the blacks. Furniture is broken and houses set on fire. The negro men in looking after their property, were driven off by the mob, having to run a fearful gauntlet.

The Hudson river railroad have commenced to relay the tracks torn up by the mob. They have a gunboat in the river to protect the road.

The mob surrounded the gas works at the foot of 14th street and smashed in the windows, and severely beat several persons. A detachment of troops soon took possession of the works which the mob now threaten to destroy and murder everybody in them. The Gas Company have requested a sparing use of the gas tonight, owing to the limited supply.

Gen. Brown received intelligence that Fort Richmond and Columbus would be attacked.—The General said he hoped they would be. He thought the mob would get a lesson if they did.

Mayor Opdyke recommends the immediate proclamation of martial law but Governor Seymour opposes it.

WASHINGTON, 15th.

The following has been received at the War Department—

Vicksburg, 11th—8 p. m

H W Halleck, General-in Chief:

The following despatch has been received from General Banks:

Before Port Hudson, 8th.

General—The Mississippi river is now opened. I have the honor to inform you that the garrison of Port Hudson surrendered unconditionally this afternoon. We shall take formal possession at 7 o'clock in the morning.

(Signed) N. P. BANKS,
Major General.

By U. S. GRANT, Major General.

CINCINNATI, 16th.

Morgan reached Georgetown, Brown county, Ohio, at midnight. He is pretty well hemmed in, and his chances of escape are very slight—Gunboats and a very large force went up the river yesterday to dispute his crossing. The Ohio river is too high to ford.

HAGERSTOWN, 14th.

The rebels commenced to retreat across the Potomac Sunday night. Lee sent all his wagon trains and plundered stock over the ford at Williamsport. The ford is still very deep, and some wagons were destroyed and a few cattle. The infantry and artillery retired along the pike to Williamsport, thence down the Maryland shore to a point opposite Falling Waters, where they had a pontoon bridge which they made some days ago at Williamsport. They arrived at the pontoon bridge at 12 o'clock last night and commenced crossing at once.

The rebels took away several thousand stolen horses. They have left at Williamsport a number of the wounded in the Gettysburg fights.

Their fortifications are very extensive, running over ten miles, in a good position. The retreat was hastened by the want of subsistence, they having eaten up everything here and sent for supplies to Martinsburg. Lee will be apt to occupy Winchester at once, unless a Federal force interferes with his march there.

Several hundred rebels are reported to have been drowned while crossing at the ford and on the bridge.

BOSTON COMMON.—Tradition has invested Boston Common with a romantic interest; and the thousands of persons who love to visit this charming spot, and who are proud of its varied beauty, give the romance of tradition the preference in their belief to the plain historic facts in reference to it. The tradition, which receives very general credence, says the Boston Common came into possession of the citizens, more than two hundred years ago, by deed of bequest, coupled with the condition that no house should be ever built upon it. There are probably one hundred thousand persons in the city who believe to this day, that heirs to the property stand ready to pounce on their claim, watching constantly for any violation of the terms upon which their ancestor willed it to Boston. At one time the story was current, that the heirs would give a thousand dollars to any one who would put up even a roofed shanty on the common, and maintain it there for twenty four hours. It seems a pity to destroy so pretty a story; but Historic Germany puts it entirely to rest. The citizens of Boston themselves are the heirs of Boston Common, and there have never been any other heirs, nor can there be. Here are the simple facts

As early as 1635 the inhabitants of the town, in town meeting assembled, resolved to lay aside a spot to be held as a training field forever, and the feeling of gentile. The Common was the result of this vote. It was purchased for $1.46 and the townsfolk assessed themselves to pay for it. The vote and deed of purchase are recorded and may be seen to this day in the office of the Registry of deeds.

[Correspondence of the Daily Morning Chronicle.]

What Reward the Copperheads Got.

YORK, PA., July 5, 1863

Notwithstanding the heavy loss which the rebels inflicted on York county, one cannot help laughing at the way the Copperheads have been treated. The rebels it seems, took particular delight in making sport of them. Mr. B——M——was one of their victims They went there during the night and took his horse. Next day they called again, before breakfast, before Mr. M——had discovered his loss, and asked him at how much he valued his horse. He told them at about eighty dollars. They then made him pay for it, and also deliver up his pocket book. He soon discovered that he had been doubly swindled. The rebels then went to Mr. B——'s and found that he had sent his horse away. They made him pay sixty dollars for sending it away. Mr. K——, who lives beyond the Harrisburg turnpike gate, ran out to meet them telling them that he too was a rebel. Thereupon they made him deliver to them his pocket book, and guide them round the country. The latter especially he was unwilling to do. Then they threatened to hang him, and commenced making preparation to do so, when his wife came and paid them twenty dollars to obtain his release. They let him go; but threatened to come back and hang him if they lost their way.

The rebels did not know what to make of the people of Codorus township. They said when they went into a stable the owners came and began making all manner of signs with their fingers and muttering strange words, as though they wished to exercise the rebels, who did not understand the signs; and the poor deluded farmers lost their horses though they had paid their dollars to the K. G. C. They are said to be very angry with their party leaders in town, who have now on leavening to make their enraged followers believe that the invaders were not the rebels but 'Lincoln's hirelings.' Mr. J——L—— thought he would look after his farms on Tuesday when the rebels had left. He took his best horse, and started out on the Carlisle road. When he was out three or four miles, a party of rebels came along, and quickly relieved him of his horse, leaving Mr. L. sitting in his wagon in the middle of the road. No sympathy is felt for him. The rebels had a list of all the Union men in the town, of their property and occupations, where they kept their horses, &c., received in advance no doubt, from their sympathizing friends here

LITTLE EYES HEAR.—Parents and other persons, though having at heart the good of youth, are very apt to be heedless of what they say in the presence of children, whose young minds catch the hue of every sentiment expressed.—They talk on, and the child is seemingly engaged in its play, but words and sentiments then uttered, come up days after, when the conversation itself was forgotten, wonderfully fresh from the child's lips. Its mind has been revolving what it heard for good or evil. Boys grow old too fast by hearing men at their talk among themselves.

Says a writer "If we stopped to think how every word, spoken in the presence of a little child, affects its future for good or evil, we should be far more considerate in our speech. It is astonishing how, for days, children will ponder over a careless expression, which no one supposed they had ever heard, and at some critical moment use it themselves with startling effect. How an impatient or profane word chocks us as it comes second hand from those innocent lips! Then indeed do we realize how potent is our influence over those observant innocents, at every moment of time in which they are present with us."

The Hero of the Mississippi Valley.

General Grant, whose brilliant exploits since the commencement of hostilities have fairly won for him the title of hero of the Mississippi Valley, was born at Point Pleasant, Clarmont county, Ohio, April 27, 1822, and entered West Point Military Academy from his native State, in 1839, where he graduated with honors July 1, 1843, with the brevet rank of second lieutenant of the Fourth infantry, September 30, 1845. Though but forty years old, he has been closer under fire than any other man living on the continent, excepting that great chieftain now reposing on his laurels, Lieutenant General Scott. He was in every battle in Mexico that was possible for any one man to be in.

He followed the victorious standard of Gen Taylor on the Rio Grande, and was in the battles of Palo Alto, Resaca de la Pala and Monterey. He was with Gen Scott at Vera Cruz, and participated in every battle from the Gulf to the City of Mexico. He was brevetted first Lieutenant September 8, 1847, for gallant and meritorious conduct at the battle of Molino del Rey, and on the 13th of the same month he was brevetted captain for gallant and meritorious conduct at the battle of Chapultepec. No young officer came out of the Mexican war with more distinction than Grant, and the records of the War Department bear official testimony to his gallant and noble deeds. He resigned the service on the 31st of July, 1854, being then full captain in the Fourth infantry, and in 1860, he settled at Galena, Illinois.

At the breaking out of the rebellion he was one of the first to offer his services to the Government, saying that as he had been educated by the Government, it was entitled to his services in time of peril. He was appointed Colonel of the 21st regiment of Illinois volunteers, and went into actual service in Missouri, remaining with his regiment until promoted a brigadier general, with commission and rank from the 17th of May, 1861. His commands in Missouri were important, and he discharged every duty with great fidelity and advantage to the public service. With a military head and a military hand, he everywhere evoked order from chaos. Military discipline, order and economy traveled in his path.

In time he was made a brigadier general, and intrusted with the important command of the district of Cairo, and how diligently, how faithfully, how satisfactorily, he discharged all his duties, is well known to the country. While in that command, learning of a movement about being made by the rebels at Columbus to cut off Colonel Oglesby, who had gone into Missouri after that roaming bandit, Jeff Thompson, by a sudden and masterly movement he fell upon Belmont, and after a brilliant and decisive action in which he and his troops displayed great bravery, he broke up the rebel camp with great loss, and returned to Cairo. The rebel expedition was broken up, Oglesby's command was saved, and everything was accomplished that was expected.

In time came the operations up the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers, and by a singular coincidence, on the 20th day of January, 1862, without any suggestion from any source, General Grant and Commodore Foote, always acting in perfect harmony, applied for permission to move up those rivers, which was granted. The gunboats and land forces moved up to Fort Henry. After that fort was taken, it was determined to attack Fort Donelson. The gunboats were to go round and up the Cumberland river, while the army was to move overland from Fort Henry to Donelson.

The roads were the worst ever known, and almost any other general, or any other troops, would have despaired of moving. But they did move. The country knows the result—Donelson fell. The enemy, 20,000 strong, behind his entrenchments, succumbed before the unrelenting bravery and vigor of our troops, no more than 28,000 being engaged

While the capture of Donelson filled the country with joy, there was a cruel disposition to withhold from General Grant the meed of gratitude and praise so justly his due. Captious criticisms were indulged in that he did not make attack propersly, and that if he had done differently the work might have been better accomplished. Success could be no test of merit with him. And there was a more grievous suggestion touching his habits that has infused itself in the public mind everywhere. There never was a more atrocious slander upon a brave and noble-minded man, for he never indulges in the use of intoxicating liquors, but is an example of temperance

The battle of Pittsburg Landing was his next engagement. This he fought with forty thousand men against eighty thousand of the flower of the rebel army led by their most distinguished generals. The contest, though a bloody one, resulted in a signal victory for our arms, as on the evening of the second day's fighting the enemy commenced a retreat, which soon degenerated into a perfect rout. Their loss was three to our two in men, and in much greater proportion in the demoralization of an army which follows a defeat.

The triumphal march of General Grant from Port Gibson to the Big Black, and his five great victories, as he swept through Jackson, the capital of Mississippi, prior to his investment of Vicksburg, need but a passing allusion. Every incident of the brilliant and rapid campaign is well remembered.

The following is a chronological record of the siege of Vicksburg from the first inception

THE BOSTON RIOT of Tuesday, is thus described by the Daily Advertiser of that city: It will be seen that energy, promptness and ball cartridges were immediately successful in quelling the mob—and it is the only method by which a mob can be effectually quelled. There is no mercy in firing blank cartridges. It is sure to increase and inflame a mob, and make it necessary to take many more lives than would have been sacrificed at first.

After relating how the riot commenced, by an attack upon a mulatto officer in Prince street, the Advertiser says:

A large crowd, one-half of whom was composed of women and children, assembled in front of Station One on Hanover street after the above scenes, and made some disturbance but did no material damage. For about forty rods the street was completely blockaded. A rush was made for a negro near No 254, but without success. The storekeepers along the street, apprehensive of further trouble closed their stores, in many cases stoutly barricading the entrances.

Shortly before five o'clock in the afternoon, our citizens were made glad by the citizens were made glad by the sight of a company of regulars, with arms loaded and at half-cock, marching steadily up State street. It was the 3d Company of Heavy Artillery, 100 men, Capt. L. B. Whitten, commanded by Major Gordon, who left Fort Independence at 4 o'clock, having been summoned only ten minutes before.

Their services not then being required at the North End they were ordered to the Beach street Barracks, whither they at once proceeded. They are a fine resolute set of men, and received much commendation from the populace. The news of the disturbances was for a time discreetly withheld from the public as far as possible, that the mob might not be augmented by crowds of the curious. For several hours the effort worked well, and many who heard of the disturbance, attached little importance to it in the light of present events, so that very probably the affair was far less serious than it might have been had public excitement been allowed to run rampant.

At nightfall everybody but the police and military authorities thought the disgraceful scenes were ended, and even the authorities justly indulged in such a hope. Yet every possible precaution had been taken to check any further outbreak and secure the peace of the city. The 14th regiment was ordered to report at once to the armory at Boylston Hall, for orders. Orders were also issued to the Lancers, Dragoons and Jones's Battery to report at their respective armories forthwith for duty, and a requisition for 80 horses for the Battery was made on the Metropolitan Railroad Company and immediately filled. Orders were also sent to Fort Warren and Readville for troops. By dark at least a thousand men were under arms to keep the peace. Shortly after seven o'clock the low grumblings of an approaching storm were heard in various localities in the North End. Knots of men began to collect on Eddicott, Hanover and Prince streets, and well disposed citizens took good care to keep out of their way, but instead of retiring to their homes like good citizens, collected on the outskirts of the disaffected portions of the city, to witness the course of events, and thus increased the crowd and the labors of the police.

At half past eight the fire-bells sounded quickly nine times, the signal of a riot, and but every man under arms to his feet ready for duty. His Honor the Mayor was at the Second Station, with Chief-of-Police Kurtz, advising operations. Deputy Savage looked to it that the men were ready for the word of command. At the various armories the men only waited the word to start. Meantime the rioters were assuming their fiercest scenes at the North End. A large and boisterous crowd had assembled in front of the Light Artillery Armory on Cooper street, wherein waited Captain Jones with a loaded piece. At the same instant showers of bricks and other missiles fell upon the armory, hurled by the mob below and from the roofs of the neighboring houses. The windows were smashed and the missiles fell thick as if hail about the men within. It was at this time that Lieut. Sawin of the Battery, was knocked down senseless by a brick. It is stated that he was thrown in the gutter and actually trampled upon by the women, a large number of whom was in the crowd, and added to its fury by their demoniac yells. The ferocious of the assault drove nearly all the men from their positions in the armory. Now was the critical time. The mob seemed to be gaining the upperhand, and with the gun in their possession, the direful results could not be predicted. Captain Jones's gallant little band were hard pressed indeed. A man yet stood at the gun. Captain Jones ordered him to fire; and—not a blank cartridge—but a good round of canister burst into the close ranks of the rioters. Several fell; some were at once borne away dead and some wounded, whose name we shall probably never learn. Other casualties are mentioned below. The timely and soldier like order of Captain Jones turned the tide against the rioters. The men now seized their small arms freely, and the rabble was now glad to disperse, having received additional losses. And here occurred one of the saddest events of this sad scene. Mr. William Currier, a venerable and widely respected citizen of the honored age of 72 years, and father of officer William F. Currier of the First Station, residing at 28 Cooper street was shot dead by a shot from the rioters, while he was entering his house. Some promiscuous firing followed, but the terrible scene at this point was now almost ended. In addition to the casualties already mentioned are the following among the rioters:

By the firing of the battery piece, an unknown man was instantly killed. He appears to have been a laboring man, 30 years of age perhaps, and about 5 feet 8 inches tall. His body was pierced by the canister in eleven different places and frightfully shattered.

John Horan, a boy about ten years of age, residing at 166 Endicott street, was shot in the heart, dead.

Michael Gilly, 14 or 15 years of age, residing at 31 Cross street, was shot in the abdomen, causing a protrusion of the bowels. He was sinking rapidly at midnight, and in the physician's opinion could not live until morning.

F. Reynolds, about 12 years of age, residing at 12 Bolton place, (off Hanover street) was shot in the hip, making an ugly wound. He was taken to the hospital and may recover, although if inflammation should set in, amputation must follow, and his effort would probably be fatal. Dr. Walsh attended the wounded boys.

Another fearful scene was enacted in Dock square. Thither the mob next turned its steps with the view of attacking some of the many hardware and arms stores in that vicinity. The new and well-stocked store of William Read & son, 18 Faneuil Hall Square, was out visited. Apprehensive of some such movement, the proprietors had a guard made, with loaded arms, but the mob, for some reason, did not make an attack. Many of the rioters were already armed, and one was seen brandishing a musket in a most frantic manner. After a fierce struggle he was captured by Sergt. Dunn of the Police and others, but not until he had been shot by a police officer. He endeavored to shoot officer Dunn, who appeared to be too quick for him. As soon as the police fired upon the mob they dispersed in great haste, evidently thinking danger was at hand.

Shortly after the scene just described, had occurred, a large force of the police arrived, and immediately following was the company from Fort Independence. The Light Dragoons completed the column. The arrival of this formidable force was greeted by the enthusiastic applause of the assembled multitude. Their advent completely quelched any demonstration on the part of the mob. The police shortly after wards began to clear the square and the vicinity of Faneuil Hall. Military were placed at each avenue. In Faneuil Hall square two howitzers, well charged, were made ready for service in case of necessity. We are glad to state that this extremity did not occur. About 11 o'clock a rain set in, and most of the crowd dispersed.

[Another attempt at a general riot was made on Wednesday, but the prompt measures adopted by the authorities rendered it abortive.]

The New York Riot

We copy from the New York Times some further account of various incidents of the recent riot in that city:

Burning of the Orphan Asylum for Colored Children

The Orphan Asylum for Colored Children was visited by the mob about 4 o'clock. This institution is situated on Fifth Avenue, and the building, with the grounds and gardens adjoining, extended from 43d to 44th street. Hundreds, and perhaps thousands of the rioters, the majority of whom were women, entered the premises, and in the most violent and excited manner they ransacked and plundered the building from cellar to garret. The building was located in the most pleasant and healthy portion of the city. It was purely a charitable institution. In it there are on an average six hundred to eight hundred homeless colored orphans. The building was a large four story one, with two wings of three stories each.

When it became evident that the crowd designed to destroy it, a flag of truce appeared on the walk opposite, and the principals of the establishment made an appeal to the excited populace, but in vain.

Here it was that Chief Engineer Decker showed himself the bravest of the brave. After the fire building had been ransacked and everything deemed worth carrying away had been taken, and this included even the little garments of the orphans, which were contributed by the benevolent ladies of the city—the premises were fired on the first floor. Mr. Decker did all he could to prevent the flames from being kindled, but when he was overpowered by superior numbers, with his own hands scattered the brands, and effectually extinguished the flames. A second attempt was made and this time three different parts of the house. And he succeeded, with the aid of half a dozen of his men, in defeating the incendiaries. The mob became highly exasperated at his conduct, and threatened in the his life if he repeated the act. On the front steps of the building he stood up amid an infuriated and drunken mob of two thousand, and begged them to do nothing so disgraceful to humanity as to burn a benevolent institution, which had for its object nothing but good. He said it would be a lasting disgrace to them and to the city of New York.

These remarks seemed to have no good effect upon them, and meantime the premises were again fired—this time in all parts of the house. Mr Decker, with his few brave men, again extinguished the flames. This last act brought down upon him the vengeance of all who were bent on the destruction of the asylum, and but for the fact that some firemen surrounded him, and boldly said that Mr Decker could not be taken except over their dead bodies, he would have been dispatched on the spot. The institution was destined to be burned, and after an hour and a half of labor on the part of the mob, it was in flames in all parts. Three or four persons were horribly bruised by the falling walls, but the names we could not ascertain. There is now scarcely one brick left upon another of the Orphan Asylum.

Outrages Upon Colored Persons

Among the most unwardly features of the riot, and one which indicated its political animus and the cunningly-devised one that had been given to the rioters by the instigators of the outbreak, was the careless and inhuman treatment of the negroes of the city. It seemed to be understood thing throughout the city that the negroes should be attacked wherever found, whether they offered any provocation or not. Albion as one of these unfortunate people was spied, whether on a car, a railroad car, or in the street, he was immediately set upon by a crowd of men and boys, and unless some man of pluck came to his rescue, or he was fortunate enough to escape into a building, he was unmercifully beaten and perhaps killed. There were probably not less than a dozen negroes beaten to death in different parts of the city during the day. Among the most diabolical of these outrages that have come to our knowledge is that of a negro carman living in Carmine street. About 8 o'clock in the evening, as he was coming out of the stable, after having put up his horses, he was attacked by a crowd of about 100 men and boys, who beat him with clubs and pelting stones till he was lifeless, and then hung him to a tree opposite the burying ground. Not being yet satisfied with their devilish work, they set fire to his clothes and danced and yelled and swore their horrid oaths around his burning corpse. The charred body of the poor victim was still hanging upon the tree at a late hour last evening.

Early in the afternoon the proprietors of such saloons and other places of business as had negroes in their employ, were obliged to close up for fear that the rioters would destroy their premises. In most of them the negroes were compelled to remain over night, not daring to go home lest they be mobbed on the way.

A Victory by the Police

At about five o'clock a large body of rioters, (literally estimated from one hundred to three hundred—the latter much nearer the figure—marched down Broadway with a banner, inscribed "No draft," with the American flag, and with every conceivable diabolical weapon. They amused themselves on route by cheering and groaning at all, and occasionally killing or maiming every "nigger" they met. When below Fourteenth street they avowed their determination of entering the La Farge House and seizing every colored servant there. Fortunately they were met at Ashby street—unexpectedly to them—by a body of police some two hundred strong, under Inspector Carpenter and Sergeant Copeland. The police instantly formed company front, and with Inspector Carpenter for in advance, at once charged on the "humble quak."

The fight for a few moments was savage and terrible. Men fell by the dozen under the sturdy blows of the Police, who had orders to "make no prisoners," and in five minutes naught was left of the lawless horde but the bodies of those ruffians who were knocked senseless, lying on the ground.

Bull's Head Hotel.

This famous hotel, for many years past kept by Mr Allerton, and situated on Forty fourth street, between Lexington and Fifth Avenues, shared the fate of so many other fine buildings in that part of the city. It was entirely destroyed, together with seven stables, sheds and other out houses on the premises. We do not understand that the cause of its destruction was owing to the fact that Mr Allerton, or any other person immediately interested in the establishment, was specially odious to the incendiaries.

The mob entered the hotel in large numbers and demanded liquor. They took all there was in the house, and many of them drank to excess; they also took all the cigars they could find. Many of them ransacked the house and took everything they could lay their hands upon. In a short time flames were discovered bursting from the second story windows, and before a single fireman was in hand the building was past all hopes of being saved.

Character of the Mob.

In the early part of the day yesterday there were a number of respectable workmen and persons engaged in different occupations in the city who were momentarily seduced from their stores and their workshops, and went with the crowds in the street. But they at once saw the horrible character of the mob and the atrocious work they had on hand, they heard their threats and saw their shocking brutalities, and were only too glad to get out from among them. At last the mob or mobs were composed of only the vilest men in the city, and there was not a crime conceivable, from firing houses to hanging negroes, of which they were not capable.

ANSWER A FOOL ACCORDING TO HIS FOLLY. The Daily News, in one of its issues disturbs against New England and her influence, complains that she has 32 votes in the United States Senate while six other States, (not named,) have just as many Senators to an immensely larger population. Nothing is said about Representatives, simply because the proportion in that case is the same in all the States. The only complaint of the House seems to be that New England members have journeys to make and work too hard.

But there is another opportunity for comparing representation, in which we call the attention of our tender hearted neighbor. There are six Southern States having a free population of only 1,836,241, sending 12 Senators, New England, with a free population of 3,135,283, has but 12 Senators; in level ratio, New England would have 20 Senators, but did the News ever complain of this vast disproportion? There are six other Southern States, with a free population of 2,196,686 sending 28 members of Congress, while New England, with a population of 3,135,283, has but 22 Members. The States of Mississippi and South Carolina, with only 645,274 free population in both of them, have 10 Members of Congress; Massachusetts, with a population of 1,231,065—almost double that of both the pet slave-whipping States—has only an equal number of Congressmen. It takes 121,000 free people in Massachusetts to elect a Member of Congress, while in South Carolina and Mississippi, only 70,000 are required.—Tribune.

—"Where are you going?" said a young gentleman to an elderly negro he overtook a few miles from Little Rock. "I am going to heaven, my son; I have been on the way for eighteen years." "Well, good bye old fellow, if you have been eighteen years going towards Heaven, and have got no nearer than Arkansas, I'll take another route."

IN DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

GREAT SALE OF PINE TIMBER LANDS.

THE ST MARY'S FALLS SHIP CANAL COMPANY will offer, at public auction, in the city of Detroit, on the second day of September next, of Pine Timber Lands, lying in the State of Michigan, which were selected with great care nearly ten years since. It is estimated by good judges that these lands comprise, at least one half of all the most valuable pine timber lands in the state, and there are none more valuable in North America than those of Michigan.

The facilities which Michigan affords for manufacturing and transporting lumber are so great, the consumption of the country, east and west, mainly supplied from this source, is so large, and the area of pine timber lands in the northern portion of the United States, east of the Rocky Mountains, is so small, that the value of these lands must yearly advance in a constantly increasing ratio.

This sale presents the greatest chance for selecting valuable timber lands, either in large or small bodies, that has ever been offered in this country.—The sale becomes necessary to provide for a large debt of the Company, and will therefore positively take place. The title is perfect and free from all incumbrance.

The stock of the Company will be received at par in payment of purchases made at the sale to an amount equal to 33 per cent. of the whole purchase money; the remainder, 8 per cent., to be paid in cash.

Catalogues, with full particulars, accompanied with maps, can be obtained on application to

NEW YORK, 16th—8 P M

The startling intelligence of the arrest of the William Andrews, leader of the rioters, in ambush [illegible] He has been sent to Fort Lafayette.

A gang of ruffians drove off workmen this forenoon from the gas works, on 14th street.

Inquests have been held on 50 bodies, among them a mother and infant, the latter only born 15 minutes before a bullet struck them both.

There is no truth in the reported burning of factories in Newark

In several small towns in the suburbs the various demonstrations have been prevented by the action of the Catholic Priests, imploring their parishioners to desist

Some frame houses in 27th street were burned by the ruffians early this forenoon The owners and occupants refusing to save them the firemen rallied and saved the lives of several negroes, and drove off the rioters

The Post say, early this forenoon the rioters on Staten Island burned the Depot and Water Station Afterwards they attacked and burned negro shanties, killing 2 negroes

Many people have left the island including prominent citizens, whose lives have been threatened

It is stated that a riot is now going on in First Avenue, where Co E 65th N Y Regiment were stationed to protect the steel factory They were fired on and 15 soldiers killed The soldiers returned the fire. Reinforcements have been sent to the soldiers

NEW YORK 16th—7 P M

The 20th Michigan and 152d N Y regiments volunteers have arrived from Washington

Detailed accounts of the riot in First and Second Avenues by Jackson a founder on 28th street and Seward's foundry on 14th street were threatened by the mob this forenoon when detachments from the 50th and 65th N Y militia with two howitzers were sent to the scene The mob came out of their haunts with muskets and carbines, but merely jeered furiously at first The troops took no notice of this, and leaving a detachment with an howitzer at Seward's foundry marched to First Avenue

Here the mob fired upon them, and one of the soldiers was slightly wounded

The troops formed into line and placed their pieces in position but no further demonstrations was made After a short halt the troops went to Jackson's foundry, burst open the doors and entered

The mob fired an occasional shot which was returned with a galling fire, and several of the rioters were wounded The howitzer was placed in position to command the street

About noon reinforcements arrived and the rioters fired on them. The soldiers took aim, but were restrained by their officers

Mr Jackson drew Gen Brown aside and requested the withdrawal of troops from his foundry

Gen Brown replied "I shall put my soldiers where I please and no mob shall dictate to me where they shall go"

He sent orders to defend the place at all hazards, and not to spare any of their fire if the crowd gathered

The passions of the rioters were inflamed this afternoon by the funerals of the victims of last night's fight

Col Lefferts of the 7th Regiment reported his command to Gen Brown this afternoon, and was ordered to take control of the district between 7th and 60th streets, from the First Avenue to East River, and take all measures to suppress mobs and riots

All was quiet in Yorkville and Harlem during the day

Senators Bradley and Connolly requested the withdrawal of troops from the 1st ward which was refused by the Police Commissioner and Gen Brown

At 4 30 this afternoon a sharp fight was going on in 22d street, between the soldiers and the rioters

The city will be patrolled by the military to-night.

Gen Brown is determined that the mob shall be put down to-night if he was to kill every man in the crowd

The 23d Brooklyn regiment is expected home tonight

Some fears are entertained of trouble in Brooklyn to-night, and the troops in the country are ordered into the city

Placards are posted about the city from Archbishop Hughes, requesting the rioters to assemble in front of his residence to morrow, at 2 o clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of addressing them in favor of returning to lawful authority He promises them protection while listening to his address

NEW YORK, 16th—via Albany

The Treasury building, Custom House and other public buildings are defended by strong guards from the 16th Regiment

The elevator destroyed by the mob last night in Brooklyn, was valued at $100,000 Two or three negro houses in Jersey City, have been sacked and burned. A great number of negro women and children are encamped in open air on the Elysian fields in comparative safety

The mob at Staten Island last night was overawed by an armed patrol of citizens, and no violence was perpetrated

At Williamsburg citizens are arming in volunteer companies A small mob have commenced a few depredations on stores in Jamaica

The Mayor of Brooklyn refused to call a public meeting on the plea that it would inflame rioters

The lawless scoundrels and thieves who have been the terror of decent people for the last three days and nights, are skulking to their dens endeavoring to hide themselves and their plunder, while their abettors are endeavoring to leave the city

The notorious scoundrel Andrews, who led the rioters in burning the Orphan Asylum, was been arrested

A revulsion of feeling is coming, and government will undoubtedly be sustained in the maintenance of order

WASHINGTON, 16th.

Contrary to a published statement the execution of the draft was suspended in New York only by the uprising of the mob. It has not been ascertained here that any directions have proceeded from this city for prolonging suspension beyond the period when order shall be restored so that it can be prosecuted

NEW YORK, 16th.

Gen Dix is expected to-morrow morning, to relieve Gen Wool

It appears the Staten Island riot was an insignificant affair Three negro shanties were destroyed, and one negro beaten

Fort Richmond is garrisoned by the 74th regiment.

The impression now (4 o'clock) is that there will be no more rioting to-night

One of the ringleaders of the mob was captured by the soldiers in 41st street to-night, and was probably hung

There is no truth in report of the burning of New Kirk House at Hudson City The fire was the Jersey City horse car stable.

WASHINGTON, 15th.

Major General Dix has been ordered to duty in the city of New York.

By the President of the United States, a Proclamation

"It has pleased Almighty God to hearken to the supplications and prayers of an afflicted people, and to vouchsafe to the Army and Navy of the United States, on land and sea, so signal and so effective victories as to furnish reasonable grounds for augmented confidence that the union of these States will be maintained, their constitutions preserved, and renewed peace and prosperity preserved Not these victories have been accorded not with a sacrifice of life, limb, health and liberty, deserved by brave, patriotic and loyal citizens. Domestic afflictions in every part of the country, follow in the train of these fearful bereavements. It is meet and right to recognize and confess the presence of the Almighty Father, and the power of his hand, fully, in these triumphs and these sorrows.

Now, therefore, be it known that I do set apart Thursday, the 6th day of August next, to be observed as a day for National thanksgiving, praise and prayer, and I invite the people of the United States to assemble on that occasion in their customary places of worship, and in forms approved by their own communions, render the homage due to the Divine Majesty for the wonderful things He has done in the nations behalf, and invoke the influence of his holy spirit to subdue the anger which has produced and so long sustained a needless rebellion to change the hearts of the insurgents to guide the counsels of Government with wisdom adequate to so great a national emergency, and to visit with tender care and consolation throughout the length and breadth of our land, all those, who, through the vicissitudes of marches, voyages, battles and sieges, have been brought to suffer in mind, body or estate, and finally, lead the whole nation through paths of repentence and submission to Divine will, back to the perfect enjoyment of union and fraternal peace

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed

Done at the City of Washington, this the 15th day of July 1863, and of the independence of the United States of America the 88d

(Signed,) ABRAHAM LINCOLN

By the President
WM H SEWARD, Secretary of State

BALTIMORE, 16th

A despatch to the American, dated Berlin, Md 16, says The rap of the Potomac is in this vicinity How long it will remain is not known It is probable that some days will be spent in recuperating both men and horses, both of which have suffered from long and fatiguing marches This position is one which gives the army advantage of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and where he can be easily fed The proximity of the river is also a great advantage

It is now probable that the present inactivity will be long continued

Lee is said to be pushing as rapidly as possible for Culpepper, and will hardly stop until behind the Rappahannock The necessity of feeding his army will hurry the movement

Mr Thomas C Hart one of Marshal McPhail's detective was taken prisoner by the rebels and confined at Williamsport from Friday until the arrival of our troops Up to 10 a m, Sunday, he was in close confinement, but had full view of rebel operations in the rebels. On Sunday a guard went across the river, leaving him—He then passed about as a citizen of Williamsport, and had the fullest opportunity for enquiry and observation The rebels were in momentary expectation of an attack from our forces the result of which they admitted must have been disastrous On the arrival of Lee's advance on Sunday week, the most persistent efforts were made to cross Scows were built, and on these light wagon frames were crossed, each scow taking one wagon and as many men as it could carry On Tuesday and Wednesday the river fell so much that many of the infantry forded it. A subsequent rain again swelled the river and it became unfordable

The rebels then commenced constructing a bridge at Falling Waters—using for it the boats they had built at Williamsport.

This bridge was not finished until Monday noon, and then a grand rush took place to get across artillery and heavy trains Everything was moved back from river except lightest artillery and a strong picket line On Monday night they were drawn in, and by daylight nothing was left this side but a rearguard of infantry, most of whom were captured by Buford's cavalry

The rebel officers and men were very despondent, and regarded their position as desperate and many of the men expressed the wish that our men would attack so they might be captured

On Monday they had not more than 30,000 or 40,000 men on this side of the river, and had they been attacked, they would have made but a poor defence.

Lee and his staff forded the river at 8 30 p m, Monday—Stuart, with his cavalry, following about three hours later

July 12th, 1863

Maj Gen H W Halleck—

I have the honor to report that at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 10th, I made an attack on the enemy's fortified position at the South end of Morris Island, and after an engagement lasting three hours and 15 minutes, I captured all his strongholds on that part of the Island, and pushed forward my infantry to within 600 yards of Fort Wagner

We now hold all the Island except about a mile on the North end, which includes Fort Wagner and battery on Cummings Point, mounting at this time 14 or 15 heavy guns

The assaulting column was gallantly led by Brig Gen Strong It landed in small boats under cover of our batteries on Folly Island, and four monitors, led by Rear Admiral Dahlgren, which entered the main channel abreast of Morris Island, and soon after opened their batteries which was kept up during the day mostly against Fort Wagner

On the morning of the 11th, at daybreak, an attempt was made to carry Fort Wagner by assault. The parapet was gained, but the supports recoiled under the fire to which they were exposed, and could not be got up.

Our losses in both actions will not vary much from 100, killed, wounded and missing

We have taken 11 pieces of heavy ordnance, and a large quantity of camp equipage.

The enemy's loss in killed and wounded will not fall short of 200

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,
(Signed) D A. GILMORE,
Brigadier General Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS Army of Potomac,
July 15th.

Our cavalry overtook and engaged the enemy's rear, this forenoon, near Charlestown, Va, and captured 100 prisoners

All quiet to-night Our army changed its position to-day

(Signed) T R.

NEWBERN, N C, 12th

Hon Bradford Brown, State Senator from Caswell county, N C, has taken upon ground for a reconstruction of the Union It is understood, and as much is admitted by the Raleigh Standard, that a majority of her Legislature and Sovereign Convention concur with Mr Brown, but it is thought in Raleigh that she cannot with safety to her self throw off the Confederate yoke so long as the Confederate army holds Virginia, or until there is sufficient force here to sustain her in such an effort.

Hon John Gilmer, and other extreme slave holders in this State, are said to be in favor of a gradual emancipation system, which it is understood North Carolina will be required to accept as the chief condition of settlement between her and the Federal States

Later intelligence from the Legislature now in session at Raleigh, confirm the report that many of its members have come out for the immediate repeal of the act of secession, passed by the Sovereign Convention of this State, and for the recall home by Gov Vance of the troops who are in the Confederate army at once. Should Lee's army, be annihilated, or prevented from reaching this State, the repeal of this act may take place at any moment; otherwise matters will remain as above stated.

It is said that while the discussion of the repeal of sec. act was going on, a distinguished member suggested a foreign war as a method of consolidating the States together, which was applauded yell parties.

CHEHAMAX, 16th.

It is said that Morgan is about Pitton to-day, and the forces are closing around him, and will give him trouble soon

WASHINGTON, 16th

The Republican says a cavalry and artillery force was ordered two days since by General Heintzelman, to make a reconnoissance through Shenandoah Valley They returned yesterday evening

The commander found very few rebels in the Valley He discovered that Ashby's Gap was held by between 300 and 400 rebels He charged upon them and drove them out, and held the place, capturing a rebel Adjutant General, and several other officers and privates.

PORTLAND, 15th

The Courier says Provost Marshal Davis of the 2d District, was shot to-day, at Augusta

[If this is true it must have happened after 4 o clock yesterday afternoon when the eastern train left Augusta. All was then quiet, and there were no indications of trouble]

GREAT SALE OF PINE TIMBER LANDS The attention of Lumber dealers is directed to the advertisement of five hundred and twenty five thousand acres of fine timber lands to be sold at public auction in the city of Detroit, Mich, on the 28 day of September next A splendid map of Michigan on a very large scale, with the lands designated thereon, may be seen at the Merchants Exchange Reading Room, and at the office of Messrs Boynton & Bradley

☞ Several notices and other matters are necessarily deferred

AN INCIDENT A private letter received from an officer in Captain (now Colonel) Appleton's company 12th Maine Regiment, says of that officer "During the assault on Port Hudson, in which he was wounded, Captain Appleton, than whom there is not a braver man in the regiment, mounted the rebel parapet where he could have a full view of the whole internal arrangements and exposed to the fire from both sides, drew his revolver, and emptied five of its chambers among the shels, and as he is considered an excellent shot, it is to be presumed somebody was hurt"

☞ David Barker's "Old Ship of State" has been set to music, which is published by Oliver Ditson & Co, of Boston The musical composition is Mrs Sarah F. Coombs of our city The words of that beautiful poem will now be immortalized in song

☞ Probably the most splendid piano ever in this State, is now on exhibition and for sale at the rooms of Mr Morris, and can be had at a bargain.

☞ A correspondent at Skowhegan says Jonas Jewett of Solon, wintered 31 sheep. The 31 had 60 lambs, 20 of the 31 had 41 lambs 19 had two each, and one had three ☞ Vallandigham arrived at Quebec on Sunday, in a steamer Lady Head, and is now staying at Russell's Hotel The Quebec Chronicle understands that he will proceed at once to Niagara, to set up his quarters at the Clifton House and there await the course of events which may permit his return to his own country"

☞ It is said that Colonel Richard Thomas Zervona (the French adjutant formerly of Fort Lafayette, (says the Evening Post,) who was lately executed and had arrived in Richmond will sail on Europe to take command of a rebel private Gen insanity, caused, as we were told by his long imprisonment, seems to have been very suddenly dissipated

☞ The rebel raid into Indiana appears to have roused the State to a pitch of enthusiasm not before attained At least fifty thousand men were raised and organized into companies within three days, and at last accounts recruits were still pouring in.

INCIDENTS OF THE DRAFT In Salem, says the Gazette, every Protestant minister liable to draft was drawn, viz Rev Messrs Haskell, Johnson Palmer, Pickman, Seaver and Wardell. Of the members of the bar, four were drawn, namely—Nathaniel J Holden, M B Mansfield, S H Phillips and Charles Sewall

☞ It is stated that a party of delegates from the Historical Societies of several States are to charter a steamer and start from New York on the 24th of August, visit Newport, Boston, Bunker Hill, Cambridge, Savage Rock, and reach Portland in the evening of the 26th, where a grand Promenade Concert will be furnished for their entertainment. "On the 27th they will proceed to Bangor, and attend a ball in the evening On the 28th they will visit Castine, Fox Island and Mount Desert, and reach Fort Popham in season to attend the celebration of the 2d."

☞ It is now said that Police Superintendent Kennedy of New York, first reported as having been killed by the mob, will recover from his wounds.

☞ Commissioner Ludlow says that Vice President Stephens and Commissioner Ould were greatly exasperated at the refusal of their request to visit Washington Stephens had baggage enough with him for a stay of six months.

DROWNED. A man named Charles Libby, of Pittsfield was drowned on Sunday morning, while bathing in the river near the mills at the east end of the Kennebec dam. He slipped from the boom and it is supposed struck his head against the logs, stunning him so that he sunk to the bottom His body was recovered and conveyed home.—Augusta Farmer

New and Good Music.

We have received the following pieces of new music, published by Henry Tolman & Co, 331 Washington Street, Boston

"The Wild Rose." By W. K Batchelder

"When is Home?" A Ballad. Composed by Dexter R. Dodge.

"The Leaf in the Book"—No. 4 of "Six Songs." Composed by Emily Bruce Roelofson

"Vill Folks." By P S. Gilmore

"Thou Art so Near and Yet so Far"—No. 7 of "Poems for the Piano Forte." By Adolph Baumbach.

"Clara Waltz."—No 18 of "Gems for the Piano-forte." By Adolph Baumbach

This and other music may be found at the Piano rooms of Mr Daniel Murrins, Mercantile Square Mr M. has on exhibition and for sale one of the most splendid pianos in the country It is worth looking at, even if you don't want to buy

The rebel wounded at Gettysburg freely admit that Lee's forces were terribly defeated Not a few, especially from North Carolina, express a desire not to go into the rebel service again—One soldier from the Old North State followed Senator Wilkinson a half a mile to tell him that he, with his fellows, had been impressed into the service, and that the Old Flag of the Union was dear to him yet. No man of them is so ignorant as not to know that the confederate money is utterly worthless and they would discard it altogether did not the rebel laws compel them to use it

A deserter who came into Meade's camp asserts that Lee was determined to whip our army and assured his men that if they could only manage to make a break in our lines and 'get our men a-going,' the thing would be up with Meade He reports the news of the fall of Vicksburg as having been kept from their men According to his statement, Lee went into Pennsylvania with about 80,000 men, and has lost in killed, wounded, deserted and captured, about 35,000 General Meade is constantly on the alert See him out what hour of the day you will, and you will learn that he has been examining our lines on the front in person He knows his enemy, and knows if it is possible he will give him the slip, and he doesn't mean to let him do so The country may rest assured that he will do all that any man can do toward the utter annihilation of Lee's army

The detailed accounts of the riot in New York indicate that a military force of a thousand men, with orders to fire ball cartridges, and fire rarely and often, could have suppressed the mob at any time—but there seems to have been a lamentable lack of promptness and concert of action The policemen did their duty like heroes, and in several attacks made by them on portions of the mob, were completely successful Still the riot could not be fully subdued without a strong military force

The New York Express, falsely asserts that the Republicans refused to "stand by the bargain" which our fathers made in adopting the Federal Constitution. As the Tribune says, the editor knows better—knows that we refused only to assent to the extension of Slavery, which the Constitution does not require or imply—which Jefferson first taught us to resist—which the Congress of 1787 (sitting simultaneously with the Convention which framed the Constitution) unanimously prohibited—and which the senior editor of the Express, in the Whig State Convention of 1847, solemnly pledged himself evermore to resist. And it is for such resistance that the rebels made war on the Union

"There remains," said Judge Bramlette, Union candidate for Governor of Kentucky, in a recent speech, "but one course for all true, loyal and patriotic men to pursue, and this is simply to do all in their power to strengthen the government in its effort to crush the rebellion—After that is done you can set about rectifying all the mistakes of the Administration"

Since the receipt of the despatch of Secretary Stanton of the 15th of June, the State of New York has sent to the relief of Pennsylvania thirty regiments, numbering in the aggregate 16,000 men: In addition to this a large number of artillery companies are being sent forward to garrison the forts This is as many men as were forwarded to the field under both the calls of 1861 and 1862

Buckner said, when he invaded Kentucky, that he would take his Christmas dinner in Louisville Lee said a few days ago that he would take his Fourth of July dinner in Philadelphia Both dined elsewhere, and only upon humble pie. —Pressing

THE CALL OF DUTY If any additional stimulus was wanting for the truly patriotic to respond to the draft bravely, and enlist in this war, it is furnished by the course of the New York mob Now is the time for the loyal and patriotic to exhibit an example of obedience to the call of the country, and to serve it wherever duty requires We have heard comparatively little here in New England about resistance to the draft, but too much is said about buying off. Young and able-bodied men, with no incumbrances, who can go into the army with no sacrifice worthy of the name, are not ashamed to talk of evading the draft! Instead of considering the call an honor and the service a duty, they lament their ill luck in having been drafted, and seek the easiest mode of escape. This is wrong in spirit and principle. The Government has a right to the services of every citizen But some cannot serve in the army from physical disability, others in consequence of the claims of a numerous family, others because their business would be ruined, involving perhaps the loss of work to their employees. Various causes put it out of the power of many to respond to the draft But it is not too much to say that the majority of those who have drafted can go as well as not, and ought to go Duty, patriotism, honor, all unite in calling our young men from the more peaceful pursuits of private life to the service of their country And in the language of the enrollment act "no service can be more praiseworthy and honorable than that which is rendered for the maintenance of the Constitution and Union, and the consequent preservation of free government."

Where is the pride of our young men who have declined to serve the government in this crisis? Are they ready to acknowledge hereafter, when peace has been restored to our land, that they did nothing to save the country! Will not such a confession be humiliating! When the enthusiasm of their children is kindled by the glorious deeds of the brave men in the field, will they not wish that they too had taken a part in the contest? Truly the humblest soldier who has done his duty in this crisis will leave a nobler heritage than wealth or family pride. Let our young men think of this and seize the golden opportunity to make such a record. Let our young women remember their duty to do what they can toward recruiting our armies and sustaining the government. Evading the draft by the young and able-bodied, should be regarded as a mark of cowardice or cowardice. Such a wholesome public sentiment should be created that all who do not serve when called upon should feel the necessity of having a strong reason which will commend itself to the good judgment of their friends and society.

—Boston Journal

GLORIOUS RECORD. General Grant captured 18,000 prisoners at Fort Donelson, 7,000 during the battles preceding the investment of Vicksburg and 31,000 July 4th. Total—51,000. That is begging the enemy to state purpose.

GUY R. PHELPS, Secretary

Hartford, February 18, 1863.

The losses during the year past (as was anticipated) have been unusually large amounting to three hundred and sixty three thousand four hundred and eighty dollars, on one hundred and forty-four lives. Though the mortality is greater than last year it does not exceed the ratio of the table upon which the premiums are predicated, and as in last year a business the interest on the investment exceed the losses

Of the war risks seven have been slain in the field, or subsequently died of their wounds, and seven have died of a chronic nature after being discharged, but the extra war premiums have exceeded the losses by such policies.

Of the insured who have died during the year 15 had paid but one premium, 17, two, 12 three 7, four 6 five 4 six 1 eight, 7, nine, 2, ten, 4, eleven, 1, twelve, 2, thirteen 15, fourteen and 15 fifteen premiums each

Three millions ninety-three thousand four hundred and ninety nine dollars have been paid to the families and creditors of the insured, since the organization of the Company and over two millions and one hundred and seven thousand dollars have been returned to policy holders in dividends. Two hundred and sixteen thousand six hundred and eighty-eight dollars have been paid in dividends during the year past. These disbursements for dividends will indicate what the accumulation would have been now had this Company like some others, paid no dividends except upon the death of the insured.

This Company, organized in 1846, on a system entirely Mutual, furnishes Insurance in all the various forms, and to meet all the various contingencies for which Life Insurance is designed, at the cost to the policy holders.

There is no Stock or Guaranty Fund to absorb the profits, but all the surplus annually credited to to the policy-holders as dividends in proportion to the amount of the premium they pay and may be appropriated to the payment of renewal premiums after the first four years This is the only Company in the United States which allows a dividend upon every payment of premium.

The Directors have ordered the dividend of 1860 to be paid during the current year, as the renewals become due and are paid—by reduction of the premium of those who have paid all cash, or cancelling the notes of those who have given notes for one-half.

The credit or note system as adopted by this Company is liable to be misunderstood, being often misrepresented by persons acting for, or interested in Companies requiring all cash payments It is frequently represented that in a series of years "there will accumulate a large amount of premium notes as a debt against the policy to be handed over to heirs in payment of the policy or in lieu of money" Prejudice or inexcusable ignorance only could suggest such an illustration as applicable to this Company, as the annual payment of dividends adopted by this Company, applies in payment of the notes annually given for premiums, consequently the accumulation can never exceed four notes and to provide for them there will be a corresponding number of dividends. The assured, however are not required to give a note, but can if they prefer pay all in cash, in which case the dividends will be applied to a reduction of their premiums, which, if the previous success of the Company is continued will reduce the annual payments to nearly or quite one-half, after the fourth payment. See the Report of the Massachusetts Commissioners, for 1862, for a complete vindication of the advantages to the insured, and the security to the Company, of the note or half-credit system of Life Insurance.

D. NORRIS & CO.

The peculiar taint or infection which we call Scrofula lurks in the constitutions of multitudes of men. It either produces or is produced by an enfeebled, vitiated state of the blood, wherein that fluid becomes incompetent to sustain the vital forces in their vigorous action, and leaves the system to fall into disorder and decay. The scrofulous contamination is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." The diseases it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the lungs, Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Consumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, eruptive and cutaneous affections. These, all having the same origin require the same remedy, viz., purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With feeble, foul, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health, with that "life of the flesh" healthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

is compounded from the most effectual antidotes that medical science has discovered for this afflicting distemper, and for the cure of the disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is undoubtedly proven by the great multitude of publicly known and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases: King's Evil, or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Sores, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs from tuberculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole class of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. Minute reports of individual cases may be found in AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC, which is furnished to the druggists for gratuitous distribution, wherein may be learned the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made when all other remedies had failed to afford relief. Those cases are purposely taken from all sections of the country, in order that every reader may have access to some one who can speak to him of its benefits from personal experience. Scrofula decreases the vital energies, and thus leaves its victims far more subject to disease and its fatal results than more healthy constitutions. Hence it tends to shorten, and does greatly shorten, the average duration of human life. The importance of these considerations has led us to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is adequate to its cure. This we now offer to the public under the name of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, although it is composed of ingredients, some of which exceed the best Sarsaparilla in alterative power. By its use you may protect yourself from the suffering and danger of these disorders. Purge the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the blood, purge out the causes of disease, and vigorous health will follow. By its peculiar virtues this remedy at mulcts the vital functions, and thus expels the distempers which lurk within the system or burst out on any part of it.

We know the public have been deceived by many compounds of Sarsaparilla, that promised much and did nothing; but they need not be deceived nor disappointed by this. Its virtues have been proven by abundant trial, and there remains no question of its surpassing excellence for the cure of the afflicting diseases it is intended to reach. Although under the same name, it is a very different medicine from any other which has been before the people, and is far more efficacious than any other which has ever been available to them.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
The World's Great Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

This has been so long used and so universally known, that we need do no more than assure the public that its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do all it has ever done.

First Regiment Maine HEAVY ARTILLERY.

DANIEL CHAPLIN, Colonel Com'dg.

1,07 Advance before leaving the State.

The Best Chance Yet Offered!

VOLUNTEERS WANTED for a full Company of One hundred and Fifty able bodied men, for the above Regiment.

☞ By an order from the War Department, the 18th Regiment Band Musicians has been transferred to Heavy Artillery.

The duties and exposure of this service are much less than any other as Heavy Artillery perform no field duty, are quartered in permanent Barracks, and drilled without being loaded down with their knapsacks, &c., the duties always being performed in Forts.

It will be borne in mind that this is the only Maine Regiment of Heavy Artillery; that it is located near Washington in a very healthy and pleasant spot.

All State and United States bounties paid. Pay, $13 to $21 per month, with Clothing and Rations.

Call at once at Wheelwright & Clark's Block for further particulars.

HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY

UNIVERSAL
COUGH REMEDY

BASES its real claims to the confidence of the public by its perfect simplicity, and freedom from every component which is any way places restraint on its use, Day or Night, by Old or Young, but to find the real secret of its true character and results, to which thousands can testify, by its being made the Pocket, Bedside or Nursery Companion of all, and the enemy to all Throat and Lung Complaints, by using it every hour, if necessary, or when there is the least tickling in the Throat, or disposition to Cough, by such freedom of use it

CURES

Coughs,
Colds,
Sore Throat,
Bronchial Complaints,
Hoarseness

and all such, as when neglected, and the

CONSUMPTION!

To Public Speakers and Singers it is most valuable, as it goes to the foundation, cleans the Throat, and prevents the prostration which follows great exertion.

As a Soothing Syrup its simplicity calls for special attention, as the most delicate infant may take it with the greatest freedom.

ECLECTIC PILLS

This Preparation, by its splendid results, has shown the great necessity of a true Nervous and Spasmodic Remedy, which goes to its work on all such complaints, completely relieving the pains, and leaving no state of debility behind.

As most complaints of this nature proceed from inward causes, they are reached only through the stomach, and in most of them, time and money is wasted by the use of Liquents and Lotions.

Let this preparation be fairly tested and it will be found worthy the name and fame of a true

ANODYNE!

IT CURES

Neuralgia,
Rheumatism,
Gout,
Tooth Ache,
Ear Ache,
Nervous Head Ache,
Distress after eating,
Fits,
Hysteria,
Nervousness,
Spinal Complaint,
St. Vitus Dance,
Cholera Morbus,
Pains in Stomach and Bowels.

also, the chief of all causes of disease and insanity

LOSS OF SLEEP!

☞ To the Sleepless Invalid it gives the most refreshing sleep.

To Females, suffering the pains of Monthly Menstruation, it completely relieves, while Nature's work is undisturbed. This is of great importance, as from this source dates most, if not all, wrecks to the Nervous System, and Chronic Female Complaints.

For Stomach, or Tape Worms, it is a sure remedy.

For children, when Teething, it completely soothes the pain, by dilating with milk and rubbing the Gums. When very severe, give it in 5 to 10 drop doses in milk, and it is perfect relief.

HUNNEWELL'S

This Valuable and Simple PILL rests for character on being the true type of a DRASTIC—simple, though thorough in action, seldom requiring but a SINGLE PILL for a dose, or one at night and one at morning—acts without the least griping.

AND CURES

Dyspepsia,
Indigestion,
Biliousness,
Loss of Appetite,
Jaundice,
Humors, &c., &c.

For HEAD ACHE, when caused by a Foul Stomach, they are a perfect relief.

For WORMS are a perfect remedy.

As a FAMILY PILL they have no superior.
